

Webinar Series via Zoom:

Stimulants and their Impact on Brain and Behavior – Best Practices and Approaches for Effective Treatment and Recovery

The Northeast & Caribbean ATTC is pleased to offer a new Webinar Series developed to provide information about central nervous system stimulants and their impact on brain, body, and behavior.

Participants may join any or all of the sessions listed below.

You must register for each course separately.

Course 1: Stimulants – What are they? Who uses them?

Wednesday, December 2, 12:00-2:00 (Eastern Time)

Description: The ATTC Stimulants package was recently developed nationally to focus on cocaine and methamphetamines and the impact of these drugs. This first course will look at the epidemiology of stimulants, both cocaine and methamphetamine, nationally. It will also provide basic information about methamphetamine, cocaine, and prescribed stimulants. The introductory information will include: forms of cocaine, forms of methamphetamines, patterns of use and differences in patterns of use between cocaine and methamphetamines.

Trainers: Mary McCarty-Arias and Diana Padilla
