Who Should Attend:	This three-hour live virtual training is free and is open to providers including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Psychologists • LMFTs and LCSWs • Registered Nurses • Certified Substance Use Disorder Treatment Counselors • Other Behavioral Health Specialists/Clinicians
Training Description and Core Clinical Components:	Substance use disorders are pervasive and chronic conditions that can impact the lives of any person regardless of ethnicity, race, culture, religious preference, sexuality, gender or any other individual or group factor. Learning how to approach each individual who asks us for help with humility and a willingness to accept those individual differences is crucial to provide effective treatment for successful outcomes. This live virtual training will help participants define cultural humility and begin to raise awareness of cultural factors that can have an impact on treatment retention and outcomes.
Learning Objectives:	At the conclusion of the training, participants will be able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Examine how substance use disorders (SUDs) are a chronic condition and the implication of this on collaborative treatment planning and service delivery. 2. Define cultural humility and its central importance to patient care. 3. Identify and recommend two (2) strategies and treatment approaches consistent with cultural humility and client-centered approaches to care. 4. Specify at least three (3) strategies for applying cultural humility when addressing patient behaviors that conflict with provider’s personal perspectives of recovery, morality, or preferred approaches to treatment.
