Individuals with lived experience are providing valuable peer-based recovery services in our communities, proving that recovery is possible and sustainable. It is encouraging to see peer support workers being integrated into clinics, hospitals, emergency rooms and community-based organizations. While the increase in peer support workers is happening these staff members are typically supervised by clinicians and other professionals who have limited experience working with people who have lived experience. Often, this can lead to unclear job descriptions, miscommunication, and siloing of services intended to strengthen an organization's service delivery model. The Northeast & Caribbean and National Hispanic and Latino ATTCs have partnered to bring you an exciting and interactive 4-part training for those who are currently supervising peers and/or are interested in integrating peer-based recovery services into their organization. You will leave this training better equipped to provide effective and tailored supervision to peers on your team, fostering a fully integrated model of care, and creating a competitive advantage for your organization.

Learning Objectives:

- Understand recovery culture and its important role in treatment and recovery services.
- Highlight key differences in supervision and support needs for clinical and peer staff members.
- Build skills in using innovative models for effective and transformative supervision of peer support workers.
- Recognize the importance of meaningful professional development of peers.
- Learn the importance of the integration of services and how peer-based and clinical services intersect for improved delivery systems of care.

Who is encouraged to attend?

Clinicians, providers, administrators, and leadership who are currently (or interested) in integrating Peer Based Recovery Support Services at their agency. Whether you currently supervise Peer or are preparing to supervise peers we highly encourage you to participate.

Please save your spot today.

Seating is limited to 50 individuals on a first-come, first-served basis. As such, we ask that you register only if you can commit to all four sessions

Trainers

Maxine Henry, MSW, MBA

Maxine has been committed to improving access to and decreasing disparities in behavioral health services, especially for BIPOC communities. Most recently, her role as the Project Director for the National Hispanic and Latino Addiction and Prevention Technology Transfer Centers (ATTC/PTTC) has allowed her to create access to culturally and linguistically tailored training and technical assistance to Latino communities and Latino serving communities.

Diana Padilla, CASAC-T

Diana Padilla is a Research Project Manager at New York State Psychiatric Institute, Columbia University Medical Center. She is a senior staff trainer for the Northeast & Caribbean Addiction Transfer Technology Center Network (NeC ATTC) and provides training and technical assistance on implementation of Screening, Brief Intervention, and Referral to Treatment (SBIRT), and Equity & Inclusion capacity building opportunities.

Credits

10 NAADAC CEs are available for a $100 cost. Information on CEs will be provided after registration. This training meets approval for 12 renewal hours (CASAC, CPP, CPS) and 12 initial hours (CPP, CPS) through New York State's Office of Addiction Services and Supports (NYS OASAS). Many states offer reciprocity.
