The Substance Use Disorder Workforce in Rural Communities: Challenges and Opportunities

Sponsored and Hosted By:

The Greater Southern California Node (GSCN) of the National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) Clinical Trials Network (CTN), UCLA Integrated Substance Abuse Programs (ISAP), and Pacific Southwest Addiction Technology Transfer Center (PSATTC), HHS Region 9.

Overview:

The dramatic increase in opioid overdose deaths across the nation, particularly in rural areas, highlights the need for rapid expansion of access to medication treatment for opioid use disorder (MOUD). The GSCN of the NIDA CTN presents a four-part series featuring rural clinicians and clinical researchers who will share practical knowledge and skills for improving care for patients with OUD in rural settings.

Session four will discuss strategies and tools for ensuring clinic readiness and best practices for offering MOUD. Presenters will discuss a systems approach to preparing clinical staff and community partners for using medication, including how to identify specialty care if needed for rural patients with OUD.
